

Myo My, Pharmacologic Management of Idiopathic Inflammatory Myopathies

Session Date: 10/25/2022

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

Idiopathic inflammatory myopathies (IIM) are a group of disorders characterized by inflammation and weakness of primarily the proximal muscles. Given this is a rare set of diseases with varying etiology, there are no established guidelines for disease management. Rather, treatment is focused on immunosuppression and management of patient specific disease characteristics. This presentation will review optimal pharmacotherapy selection based on IIM subtype including initial therapy and treatment of severe or refractory disease and management of patient specific disease characteristics while discussing unique characteristics of each therapeutic agent.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Recognize the different types of idiopathic inflammatory myopathies.
2. Describe current recommendations for the initial management of idiopathic inflammatory myopathies.
3. Develop a comprehensive pharmacotherapy regimen based on patient specific disease characteristics.
