COURSE OVERVIEW

This course aims to build meaningful connections and cultivate a sense of belonging for medical educators through lecture-based and small group discussions. Successful ways of engaging with learners, teaching mentors to be coaches, and ways to mitigate burnout by rediscovering happiness, joy, gratitude, and value in teaching and medical education is covered in this work-life integrated activity.

TARGET AUDIENCE

This course is designed for healthcare professionals who have faculty and teaching responsibilities in allied health, undergraduate, graduate, or post doctoral educational programs. Physicians, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, pharmacists, nurses, occupational therapists, physical therapists, and speech language pathologists may benefit from this program.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this program, participants should be able to:

- Describe effective strategies for employing and promoting a growth mindset as an education leader.
- Determine appropriate coaching techniques to support learners and peers.
- Design an interprofessional education network inclusive of mentorship and career development opportunities.
- Employ education technologies which improve learning outcomes through increased learner engagement.
