My, Oh Myocarditis: More to Monitor for Clozapine?

Session Date: 08/15/2023

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

Clozapine is an atypical antipsychotic that is FDA-approved for treatment-resistant schizophrenia. Clinical monitoring for neutropenia is currently required by the FDA through a REMS program. However, this program does not provide additional clinical guidance on monitoring for other side effects of clozapine. Clozapine-induced myocarditis is a boxed warning and is associated with a high mortality rate. There are no regulatory standards in the United States on how to monitor for this side effect. This presentation will review the history of clozapine-induced myocarditis, discuss possible hypotheses for pathophysiology, and compare current suggested protocols for myocarditis monitoring in the literature.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Recognize side effects associated with clozapine treatment
2. Describe monitoring strategies for detection of clozapine-induced myocarditis
3. List management strategies following suspected clozapine-induced myocarditis
