Starting off STRONG: Optimizing Heart Failure Treatment at Transitions of Care

Session Date: 09/19/2023

Session Time: 11:00 – 11:45 AM (CST)

Target Audience

This continuing education (CE) session was planned to meet the needs of professional staff who deal with the selection and monitoring of medication(s) as part of their patient care duties, including pharmacists, RNs, APRNs, PAs, MDs.

Activity Overview

The transition of care from one setting to another is an especially vulnerable period in the management of heart failure due to the progressive and complex nature of the disease and its treatments. The utilization of guideline directed medical therapy (GDMT) for heart failure during this transition of care period remains unsatisfactory despite having evidence that GDMT reduces hospitalizations and mortality. Current guidelines do not provide recommendations for how to optimize GDMT during and after hospitalization for acute heart failure. The STRONG-HF trial attempts to answer this question by assessing the safety and efficacy of rapid GDMT titration before and shortly after hospital discharge. This presentation will review the management of heart failure treatment at transitions of care through discussion of previous literature, current guidelines, and the results of the STRONG-HF trial.

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this knowledge-based CE session, participants should be able to:

1. Recall components of successful heart failure transitions of care programs
2. Describe guideline recommendations for management of GDMT pre- and post-hospitalization
3. Apply the results of the STRONG-HF trial
