

Faculty Biography Form

Hispanic/Latina Women in Medicine: Critical Needs for Empowerment and Transformation in Practice 2024

September 13-15, 2024

Rosie Fraizer, MD
Gastroenterologist/Senior Associate Consultant
Mayo Clinic

Dr. Frazier is an assistant professor of Medicine in the division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology at Mayo Clinic College of Medicine, with expertise in neuro gastroenterology and motility disorders.

Originally from Mexico City, she completed her medical education there before pursuing residency and fellowship training in Texas.

Beyond her clinical practice, Dr. Frazier is actively engaged in research and medical education.

Throughout her career, she has demonstrated a commitment to improving minority health and addressing health disparities. Her work aims to improve healthcare outcomes and promote inclusivity in medicine.

Dr. Frazier is a dedicated advocate for advancing women in medicine. She mentors and supports aspiring female physicians, emphasizing the importance of gender equity and diversity in academic medicine and contributing to a more inclusive and equitable healthcare environment.